Spinster

The odor from those fish-gut-stained trousers is turning your stomach, and you won't reach the docks for a few more hours. Clean up the mess with Wunderwash.

Just sit the 5.9-pound washing machine on a countertop or table and spin the handles. It can wash and rinse about two minutes. The company claims this unit uses less water than washing by hand and less detergent than washer/dryer machines.

The pressure-wash system doesn't require electricity—just old-fashioned elbow grease. Price: $43. Contact The Laundry Alternative at 802/235-1140, www.laundry-alternative.com.

Footloose

Five days a week you're stuck behind a desk, a slave to your phone and computer. A typical Saturday fishing day has you chained to a foot pedal operating your trolling motor. Will you ever enjoy some freedom? CoPilot, a wireless remote control that operates Minn Kota's Power Drive or Riptide with AutoPilot trolling motors, releases you so you can move freely about your boat. Fastened to a rod, wrist, or belt, the waterproof, floatable remote lets you change speeds, steer, and turn the prop on or off. Price: $150, freshwater; $170, saltwater.

"The seas were six feet...but the comfort of the ride did not reflect the condition. In any other trailerboat, I would have been uncomfortable if not downright frightened." John L. Beath, Trailer Boats

"Out on the briny, the hull did its thing, cutting through big 8-foot wind-blown rollers with grace and ease, hitting almost 43-mph." Capt. John N. Raguso - Columnist, The Fisherman
